1. Introduction

This Privacy Notice explains how we will look after your data when you interact with us and tell you about your privacy rights and how the law protects you. It is likely that this notice will be amended and updated from time to time so please feel free to ask for the most current version when you visit us in person or via our website. This version is effective from 25 May 2018.

2. Who we are

Patrick LeLarge Interior Design Studio, is the data controller and is responsible for your personal data.

3. Processing your data lawfully

In order for us to look after your personal data we should have a reason under law for collecting and processing it. There are various ways we can do this including:

Consent

You have given us specific and clear consent to process your data for a specific purpose.

Contractual obligations

Processing your data is necessary for us to fulfil the obligations of a contract between us, or perhaps we are taking steps to enter into a contract together

Legal obligations

We are required by law to process your data

Legitimate Interest

In specific situations, we require your data to pursue our legitimate interests in a way which might reasonably be expected as part of running our business and which does not materially impact your rights, freedom or interests.

Public task

The processing of your data is necessary for us to perform a task in the public interest or for an official function which has a clear basis in law.

4. When do we collect your data?

- When you visit our website.
- When you engage with us on social media.
- When you contact us in writing by paper or digital means.
